In the name of Allah
The Beneficent, The Merciful......

As salaam alaikum –
Peace be unto you!

Dear Reader

Welcome to the October 2016 issue (No. 18) of the Star & Crescent E­zine.

Happy Saviour's Day! On 7 October every year, the Believers and supporters of the Nation of Islam celebrate the birthday of The Honourable Elijah Muhammad worldwide.

The Nation of Islam continually thanks Allah, Who appeared in the person of Master Fard Muhammad, for raising one in our midst to be our Leader, Teacher and Guide, the Most Honourable Elijah Muhammad. We thank them for their hard work and sacrifice to save the Lost-Found members of the Nation of Islam in the western hemisphere and for the teachings they have given us for our Resurrection. A Happy Birthday to the Honourable Elijah Muhammad and A Happy Saviours' Day to all the Believers.

On 16 October this year the Nation of Islam will be celebrating the 21st anniversary of the 1995 Million Man March and the Holy Day of Atonement. On that day, Minister Louis Farrakhan and the Nation of Islam made history and called for 1 million Black men to march on Washington DC. Approximately 1.8 million Black men arrived to atone to Allah (God) and to one another, to forge unity and they pledged to return to their families and their communities, to repair the damage that they had previously done and to take responsibility for their actions.

October is Black History Month. This a month where every year (in the UK) Black people come together to raise greater awareness, exchange information and knowledge past and present. There is also an increase in community activities for the family. It proves that Black history cannot be limited to one calendar month of the year. Black history, past and present must be in our hearts and minds 365 days every year. It is up to us all to find the facts and bring them to life and into the light for ourselves and future generations. We are the ones best qualified to teach our story.

Happy Saviours' Day to you all.

The Man of the Century:
The Honourable Elijah Muhammad

The Nation of Islam began in 1930, following the coming of Master Fard Muhammad in the city of Detroit. The Nation of Islam is the most fascinating and progressive Black institutions in America; and the Honourable Elijah Muhammad is the most significant and misunderstood leader in the 20th century.

This article focuses on the life and works of the Honourable Elijah Muhammad from 1950 to 1975. Elijah Muhammad (formerly named Elijah Poole) was born in Sandersville, Georgia in 1897. Master Fard Muhammad (Allah in Person) appointed him, Messenger of Allah, in 1934. “We believe that Allah (God) appeared in the Person of Master W Fard Muhammad on 4 July 1930, the long awaited Messiah of the Christians and the Mahdi” of the Muslims”, according to point 12 of “What the Muslims Believe”. His mission was to give life to a mentally dead people, the so-called American Negro.

The 1950s for the Honourable Elijah Muhammad came on the heels of the Great Depression of the 30s and World War II of the 1940s. The Honourable Elijah Muhammad had faced many trials and hardships in the early days. From 1935 to 1942, he fled the cities of Chicago and Detroit, running up and down the east coast of America evading two enemies. One enemy was the United States government and the other, former Nation of Islam members disgruntled at his selection as Messenger of Allah. These former Nation of Islam members, more popularly known amongst the Muslims as “hypocrites” sought to take the life of the Honourable Elijah Muhammad; among them, one of his own blood brothers.

On May 8, 1942, the police arrested him in Washington DC... on a false charge of draft evasion. At 45 years old, Muhammad exceeded the Armed Forces draft age of 44. He served 5 years in the Milan Michigan Federal Penetentiary. Later, he served another 11 months for teaching his children.

Master Fard Muhammad

During the 1950s, the Honourable Elijah Muhammad began to reap the benefits of the seeds planted in prison and his journeys throughout the east coast. Muhammad’s Temples of Islam began to spring up in Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston, Hartford, New York, New Jersey, Cleveland, and San Diego to name a few. In 1957, he published an easy to read booklet, The Supreme Wisdom.

He continued to write his column, “Mr. Muhammad Speaks”, in the Pittsburgh Courier and Chicago Crusader newspapers while on the road. His teachings had taken root in the lives of his followers. The Messenger’s program for self-development and his economic blueprint had come into fruition. The opening of a variety of small businesses such as dry cleaners, clothing shops, barber shops, restaurants, and bakeries demonstrated the faith and work of the followers.

Prior to 1959, the masses of Blacks in America viewed the Muslims as strange people in America. They dressed differently; lived clean lives, didn’t use tobacco or alcohol, and didn’t eat pork. That image changed following an address at the Uline Arena in Washington, DC on 20 May 1959. He returned to a city that the police arrested him 17 years earlier. The city provided him with a presidential escort down Pennsylvania Avenue by the capital police; an honour never given to a Black man. In a thunderous and authoritative voice, he delivered an electrifying speech to a capacity crowd of 10,000 Black men and women. He challenged the manhood of Black leadership in America: “Don’t demand a job! Demand some earth!” he exclaimed.

Alarmed by the growing number of Black people attending Muslim rallies and conventions, the Nation of Islam became the victim of an onslaught of attacks launched by the government and the mainstream media. Many in the white media began to label Muhammad and his followers as hate-teachers. Leading the charge was journalist Mike Wallace, hosting the television special “The Hate That Hate Produced”. Other programs soon followed, such as specials on News Magazine, and NBC’s “No Whites Allowed”. Orthodox Muslims and Negroes received forums for the sole purpose of denouncing him.

Mike Wallace

In December of 1959, the Honourable Elijah Muhammad made the pilgrimage to Mecca Arabia. Received with love and admiration for his works, Muhammad travelled throughout the Muslim World, visiting Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, Sudan, and Egypt; where Egyptian President Abdel Nasser offered to build the Messenger a palace, if he would move to Egypt. It was in the country of Sudan where Muhammad received his warmest reception. After speaking for only 15 minutes through an interpreter, the Sudanese people joy-filled frenzy nearly crushed the 5’ 7”, and 135 pound Elijah to death, trying to shake his hand and hug him. He destroyed the lie that the Muslims in the East do not recognize the Nation of Islam. “The common Muslim may not recognize us, but the scholars and scientists of Islam, they recognise us,” Muhammad told Chicago journalist Irv Kupcinet.

Returning to his headquarters in Chicago in 1960, the Nation of Islam leader published the first edition of “Mr Muhammad Speaks”, a weekly newspaper. In 1968, the Nation of Islam purchased a massive four-story, 60,000 square foot building that served as the newspaper printing plant, cold storage, and tractor-truck storage. In the same year, the Salaam Restaurant and Your Supermarket opened. The Nation’s farms in Michigan, Georgia, and Alabama supplied most of the products. The Muslim followers of the Honourable Elijah Muhammad flourished during the 1960s. But their success was not without persecution at the hands of armed local police officers most notably in the Louisiana and California mosques. In Los Angeles, a Muslim brother, Ronald T X was shot down in cold blood.

The influence of Muhammad could indirectly be seen and felt outside the Nation of Islam as new Black radical and nationalist groups dissatisfied with the progress of integration began to form, advocating self-help and Black power. People from around the world found their way to the doorsteps of Muhammad. Visitors from China, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, and the continent of African came to see for themselves the miracles being formed by the man from Sandersville, Georgia with a 3rd grade education. The FBI in a document dated 7 January 1969, concluded that the Nation of Islam was the personal fielder of Elijah Muhammad and that they should wait until he dies and then infiltrate the Nation and change the philosophy.

The world would witness the Nation of Islam reach it’s apex of glory and success during the 1970s. During this time, the Honourable Elijah Muhammad entered into international trade with the government of Peru. Up to 3 million pounds of fish per month were imported and stored in the Nation’s storage facilities. It was the Messenger’s plan and desire to feed the masses good food at economical prices.

The Honourable Elijah Muhammad’s love for his people extended beyond his followers and he demonstrated this in his hiring practices. Many non-Muslims managed Muslim ventures and businesses. One such venture was the Guaranty Bank & Trust Co. acquired in 1973 and managed by Oscar Williams. John Woodward became Editor-in-Chief of Muhammad Speaks Newspaper, and Christine Johnson became the principal of the University of Islam. He also provided financial support to numerous Black political candidates he felt had the Black community’s interest at heart.

During his last sermon, the Honourable Elijah Muhammad urged his followers to respect those who respected them. He also stated that if we qualified ourselves and attempted to do something for ourselves, the world would respect the Black community. Stating that the white man was no longer hindering us as a people, he urged the Black Nation to “Get Up and Go to Work!”

At the time of his departure on 25 February 1975, the news reports stated, the empire amassed by the Honourable Elijah Muhammad estimated at $80 million dollars. While the monetary value of the Messenger is significant, it is more important to place him in the proper context in which he operated. The commission by Allah (God) to raise a mentally dead people and bring them into the knowledge of themselves, God, and others was the prime directive. The monetary accomplishments were incidental. Provided with the foundation; the acquisition of land, money, good homes, friendship, banks, hospitals, restaurants, international trade and commerce automatically followed. For the followers of the Honourable Elijah Muhammad, they bore witness to these and many other miracles.

As many discuss the men and women of the Millennium, a name has not been mentioned that accomplished what the Messenger achieved single-handedly with the knowledge he received from whom he said was Allah (God) in Person. His belief and commitment to his God raised a mentally dead people. I humbly submit that my man for the Millennium and beyond is the Honourable Elijah Muhammad.

Minister Louis Farrakhan

The Electoral Process, Black Votes and a Message to the Grassroots

I came here tonight to talk about the electoral process and the Black vote. In the book of Revelation, it reads, “And the nations were angry, and thy wrath is come, and it is the time of the dead, that they should be judged,” or given justice. The nations were angry. All the nations of the earth today are angry. And the Book says, “and thy wrath is come.” If you can look at what is happening globally and then focus in on what is happening in America, it is obvious that the God of nature is angry.

Now, dear Brother and Sister politicians, our people are angry and they are hurting. You and I may meet in this beautiful place and go home to a beautiful home or a decent meal, but our people feel a sense of hopelessness and despair. On BET television the other day, host Tavis Smiley said they called a number of persons asking them about getting out the vote. He said 70% of the Blacks that he called said they are not voting because it doesn’t seem to change anything. You call it apathy.

Mrs Hillary Clinton came here yesterday and stood with our brother, the Reverend Jesse Jackson, at Operation PUSH and she said we must vote because our future depends on it. I’m sorry, but my future doesn’t depend on a vote.

My future does not depend on a benevolent White person in the White House or in the mayor’s mansion or in the governor’s mansion. We must get past looking to a benevolent Caucasian to save us. They have not saved us and they will not save us, because they cannot save themselves.

I would love for us to go to the polls. Vote for those persons that you feel have done and will do as good as they can for us. But I want all of the politicians and political hopefuls to realise that politicians have never delivered the people of God.

David was a prophet and a king. He was political, but his spiritual side overlapped his political side, so his politics were governed by his relationship to God. If you are just going to be solely a politician, then you can only go so far, because the political system is a system of White supremacy. If the system is a system of White supremacy and you don’t change the system, then you must try to fit in the system and extract from the system what you can for yourself and your people. But you must know by the reality of the system that there is only so much you can extract out of that system for yourself and your people, because no
I just can’t speak for Muslims. It is not Muslims who are aching alone. Our people are aching and they need us to be a strong advocate for their suffering. You have to stay free in order to keep them strong and clean. But if you (pastors) get bought out, how are they going to stay straight and the men and the women of God have been corrupted? We are the watchmen on the wall. You (political leaders) are, too. You watch with a political eye, we watch from a spiritual eye, but we are supposed to be the watchmen for the people that vote for us.

The sad thing is the people vote, but they don’t give you politicians the money to run your campaigns. So here comes big business seeking to buy you off. They say, “how are you, judge, alderman, congressman, reverend?” What can I do for you today, reverend?” You must be strong enough to say, “you can’t do anything for me.” You’ve got to be like Jesus, when Satan took him up on the mountain and showed him all that Satan had. Satan said, if you would just bow down to me, I will give you all of this.

We have to be careful about who we bow down to. When you (pastors) get in your congregation and talk about a powerful Jesus who sits at the right hand of the Father with all power in His hand, but then you go with your hat in your hand to the governor, mayor or president begging for some crumbs, then you have sold your God cheap and you make the White man downtown disrespect all of us.

All of us need something and God knows that the mayor can help us all in some small way. The governor can help us, the president can help us, but at what price? God is God. And if you say God is able and He has power over all things, then why don’t we trust Him? All I’m saying is we have to be better leaders as ministers of God. I’m speaking of myself and you and us. I’m not trying to hurt anybody’s feelings. We have to help our politicians.

At the Million Man March, we said we wanted to create a third political force, taking Republicans, Democrats, whatever persuasion you may be. We have got to form a force for the year 2000, so that we can leverage our demand with power to extract from the governing bodies what is in the best interest, not for a few of us, but for the broad mass of our people.

I know that we benefited from Rev. Jackson’s presidential campaign in 1984. That man was so inspired of God that he electrified the whole world of people of colour, because we saw our brother stand toe-to-toe with the best of them and he came out on top. But when our Brother went to the convention with this anti-Semitic label hanging on him, they put him in a weakened position, so that he couldn’t put pressure on the party. So what we got were crumbs from the master’s table.

He ran again 4 years later and did much better. He registered more people for the Democratic Party than anybody had ever done, and what did we get out of it? We got Ron Brown, Governor Wilder, Mayor Dinkins, new congress persons, sheriffs, state legislators, but that’s a few positions at the top.

Wasn’t it Frederick Douglass who said, “Power concedes nothing without a demand?” Power isn’t going to concede anything with a demand if the demand is not backed by power. You are not dealing with a moral system; therefore, you cannot appeal to the morality and the heart of mercy in a system that is merciless. I don’t have any illusion about telling you to vote. You should vote for those whom you feel will do good for us, but remember, the good that they do is limited by the system that they are in.

So the question becomes, how do we empower our politicians to make them stronger and better in their desire to serve their people? All of our politicians are good. But the system will make you like itself, unless there is a pool of Siloam (Bible) that you can take a bath in. When we, the Muslims, enter the electoral process, we are not entering this to be like what we see. I would be a hypocrite if I told you we are going to go out the vote and it is going to be business as usual. Our people are angry and they will hurt those of us in leadership who deceive them and play games with their true aspiration for real liberation.

According to the polls, the 1996 presidential election was the lowest turnout for a presidential election since 1924. It dropped by approximately 6 to 8 million votes from 1992 to 1996. America is going all over the world selling them on democracy, and the hallmark of democracy is that we have the right to elect and select those who would lead us. But now, we in America, the American electorate, are dropping out of the most important part of being in a democracy — the voting process.

Now how can we change this? I want to talk to the pastors who are supposed to be the freest people because we have congregations that support us. Nobody in the state should feel that they have us in their hip pocket. You are God’s man and God is universal. You may be the pastor of Cosmopolitan, St. Sabina, Fernwood or Mosque Maryam. These are small congregations, but you are speaking for a big God. When you are speaking for a big God, how could you just be concerned with your little congregation that you would sell out to get a little crumb here and a little crumb there? You are God’s people, and when you speak for God, you don’t speak just for your congregation, you speak for the suffering masses. Whether they are in your church or not, they are your congregation if you truly represent the God of heaven.

Frederick Douglass
What did the masses get? What about the old lady that stood in the rain to vote, what did she get? The joy of seeing a Black face as mayor of New York, but a mayor that was more concerned with what was happening in the Jewish community than what was happening in the community that sent him the power? But then we lost our mayor in New York by 60,000 votes. We lost a mayor in Los Angeles. We lost our mayor here in Chicago, Mayor Harold Washington.

But I have got to give Mayor Washington credit. Some of you want a vote and you know that God has blessed me with the people, but you won’t even ring my doorbell. You can’t even sit down and have a cup of coffee with me and say, Brother Farrakhan, could you help me? You want my help, but you don’t want White folks to know that you want my help. But not Mayor Washington. Harold Washington knocked on my door. Harold Washington came in my dining room and sat down and broke bread with me.

And Farrakhan had never voted. He said, “Brother Farrakhan, I need your help.” I said, “Congressman, you have my help.” He stayed with me for 40 minutes, had a little breakfast and left. But he left a mark on my heart. And while everybody was condemning me, they kept putting the microphone in Mayor Harold Washington’s face, and the mayor never once condemned Louis Farrakhan, not one time. We are going to form a political wing that monitors everybody that we send to any official position. Since you come from us, your service should be to those from whom you come. The way you vote should be important to us.

Every 90 days we must call a town meeting. You have got to come back from Congress, you have got to come down from the judges’ chambers, you have got to come in from the state senate, and you have got to sit down with your constituents and tell us why you voted this way and how you want us to help you to do your job better. Tell us how much money you need, so that big business people that want to give you money to control your vote and tell you how to vote, you can tell them you are not interested in their money.

The Million Man March was not a Muslim thing. It was Muslims, Christians, Nationalists, Hebrews and others working together. That’s what made it happen. It was a family working together. And so, my dear family, when you leave here, go tell our brothers and sisters that it’s a new day, it’s a revolution. Tell them that we want to create, not only a political revolution, but a spiritual revolution in America. I pledge to our political brothers and sisters our support, our love and our desire to help you be as strong as you want to be and to put power behind your demand. Nobody is going to take the Black vote for granted again. May God bless you that are running for re-election; may He bless you to be re-elected. May He bless you once re-elected to fight for justice for those who are deprived. Take no mean price for justice, because every time we fail to do justice, we set up judgment on ourselves and on others. …

Thank you for listening and may God bless you as I greet you in peace, As-Salaam Alaikum.

The following edited excerpts are from a message delivered by Minister Louis Farrakhan on 1 November 1998 at a “Get Out the Vote: A Message to the Grassroots” rally at Tabernacle Missionary Baptist Church in Chicago.

Home Office Restarts Racist Jamaica Charter Flights

MASS DEPORTATION CHARTER FLIGHT TO JAMAICA ON 7 SEPTEMBER 2016

A charter flight departed from London at 06:30 hrs on Wednesday September 7th for JAMAICA. This is the first charter flight to Jamaica since 6th November 2014. Charter flights are privately chartered ghost flights that leave from an undisclosed location early in the morning, private security guards enforce the removals with no public present.

On the basis of previous charter flight reports from London, it is assumed the company contracted to operate this flight is Titan Airways. Charter flights cost on average over £200,000 per flight. James (not his real name) wondered why the government is cutting benefits when they can find the money for these planes.

People issued tickets for the charter flight complied with the conditions imposed on them by the Home Office. They succumbed to the Home Office’s every demand and feel they have been tricked and kidnapped. Each person told the same story – they signed on at the Home Office reporting centre as required and were tricked. They were told that had to have a quick interview and were taken into a room. Three hours later they were detained. One man even told of his friend who attended the reporting centre with his baby in a pushchair. The Home Office called social services to pick up the baby and detained the father.

The Unity Centre spoke with over 50 Jamaican individuals, currently detained across the UK’s immigration detention estate. They were set to be forcibly removed on Wednesday 7 September 2016.

In the last few weeks, hundreds of individuals previously released on bail and temporary admission have been detained, in a deliberate act to prepare for this charter flight to Jamaica. Many individuals had ongoing immigration cases and most could not afford to pay the huge legal fees to regularise their stay. Everyone we spoke to had been here since they were children and had no family or friends in Jamaica. Their lives are here in the UK. Everyone we spoken to have British family, children and partners, even grandchildren and extended family.

Everyone we spoke to came to the UK as a child. One friend came here aged 4. All bar one person have British children. One man is married to a British national for 12 years. Two of the men are full time carers to their partners. The Home Office maintain that family relationships can be maintained via phone, email and Skype. Ray (not his real name) previously stated: “Immigration Judges tell us we can maintain our family life over Skype. But how can you take your child to school through Skype? How can you have a relationship with your wife over Skype?”

Many people have been swept up as part of ‘Operation Nexus’ – the controversial initiative whereby police collude with the Home Office to build cases for deportation. Under ‘Operation Nexus’ you need not have even been convicted of a crime. Some of the people we spoke to, due to be deported have never even been convicted of a crime. Those that have served custodial sentences, served their sentences. This is simply a racist double punishment.

The Home Office has no regard for these deportee’s safety. In its recent report on Jamaica 2015/16, Amnesty International found that Jamaica continued to have one of the highest homicide rates per capita in the world. Violent crime remained a key concern for the public. Between January and June, police recorded 1,486 reports of serious and violent crimes, classified as murders, shootings, rapes... and aggravated assaults. According to media reports, there were more than 1,100 murders during the year, an increase of approximately 20% compared with 2014. This highlights the danger that the people being forcibly removed from their families in the UK by the Home Office will face on their return.

They will also not have access to justice on their return. In its report on Jamaica, Amnesty also found that there are ‘Major backlogs in the judiciary’ this has led to ‘continued delays and hampered access to justice. In particular, investigations into police killings remained slow. With a high number of new cases and few resources, the capacity of the Coroner’s Court to help resolve the backlog also remained limited.’ The people being removed have no recourse to the courts and are also in danger from the law enforcement agencies in Jamaica.

Many on this week’s charter flight have been given the “right” to appeal once they have been deported. The Home Office maintain that having already been deported doesn’t mean you won’t have a ‘fair trial’ – common sense says otherwise. From The Unity Centre’s experience of continued contact with individuals given out of country appeal rights, it is clear that the uncertain and sometimes extremely volatile conditions in Jamaica essentially mean that individuals have in effect no right of appeal.

The Unity Centre is currently in contact with at least one individual who is pursuing an out of country appeal – who, upon being forcibly removed to Bangladesh, is street homeless and severely ill – meaning that he is unable to even afford enough phone credit to call a lawyer in the UK.

This is a right that exists only on paper as there is still not a single instance of its success that has come to the attention of the Unity Centre. It is there with the sole purpose of giving the Home Office a reason to engage in human rights violations without fear of scrutiny, censure and democratic oversight. Charter flights enable individuals with extremely convincing reasons for staying in the UK to be removed en masse with very few questions asked.

Charter flights are incredibly difficult to challenge, specifically due to the simple fact that they are specially chartered by the Home Office; for example, in a letter addressed to an individual facing forced removal in 2014, the Home Office states that due to the “effort and expense” of a charter flight, a judicial review (of Home Office practice – which has been successful for over 36% people seeking asylum) may not necessarily defer forced removal. In doing so, the Home Office simultaneously contradicts its own assertion that charter flights are cost-effective (the average cost per person being removed in 2015 was over £5000).

Whilst Detained Fast Track was ruled unlawful, from speaking to detainees it is clear that similar barriers to accessing justice through legal representation persist – and that the Home Office is deliberately using its powers to limit those that are vulnerable and most in need of legal protection. The Home Office policy of relying on chartered flights lacks transparency, raises serious concerns about human rights violations at taxpayer’s expense.

In the afternoon, detainees are taken (often with force) from detention, handcuffed, and put onto coaches bound for the airport. “Reserve” detainees are kept on coaches, unaware if they are being put on the plane or not until after the flight has actually left – demonstrating the Home Office’s clear emphasis on filling the flight regardless of the legal merit of detainees’ individual cases. Standard practice is that each person facing removal is accompanied by two security guards (contracted to companies such as Tascor and G4S); so, for a flight forcibly removing 80 people, there would be 160 guards present.

Handcuffed detainees are forced onto the plane under the threat of violence, often with unnecessary and excessive wrist and waist restraint belts, which are often kept on continuously for the whole journey, with head restraints for those who attempt to resist (brought in following the death of Jimmy Mubenga in 2010).

One independent report found that the use of waist restraints, which circulate around the entire body and hold one’s hands and arms firmly by one side, even fails to comply with Home Office guidelines of exceptional circumstances – but have instead become routine.

Let us be clear, this is collective expulsion. The people set to fly are not those with particularly weak cases, they’ve been rounded up because they’re Jamaican. These people have nobody in Jamaica and nowhere to go when they touch down in Kingston. They will be torn from families leaving wives and children behind.

These people are carers to partners, fathers to children, members of communities. The UK is their home. Black lives don’t matter to this government. The legacy of this punitive regime will breed nothing but broken families, more crime and hate. Some of these men are angry. How can anyone blame them. Charter flights are short-sighted, racist, cost ineffective and callous.

Deportee cries foul over Jamaican, British government ‘conspiracy’

At least one of the 42 Jamaicans deported on Wednesday 6 September has blasted the Jamaican and British governments over the “inhumane treatment” he claimed to have received during the process.

Seon Clarke told media personnel gathered outside the headquarters of Mobile Reserves in Kingston that a massive “conspiracy was at play” as it relates to their forceful removal from the United Kingdom. Scores of family members, bystanders and the media converged at the location, as many deportees who emerged sporting masks, hid their faces, and some even threatened reporters with violence.

“I’m saying that we [who] are overseas are under immense pressure; these governments are treating us like we are nobody,” he fumed. “[The] Jamaican Government is selling us out as well,” he stated, “because dem tek £20,000 fi each head!”

Clarke wasn’t alone in his claims, as several fellow Jamaicans who were processed on the controversial flight spat curses at journalists, adamant they were “sold out.”
Clarke told Loop News that he was arrested for the “simple charge” of dealing in marijuana, and imprisoned for 9 months in British prison.

Clarke, who did not state where in Jamaica he’s originally from, explained that he was living in the UK for the last 5 years. “I’ve been detained past my time; they say if you get 12 months or over, you can get deported, [but] I only did 9,” he said.

In the meantime, the Jamaica Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Foreign Trade, in a release to the media Wednesday, said it is aware of the deportation of 42 Jamaicans from the United Kingdom by way of Charter flight. Below is an edited version of the release from the ministry on the issue:

“The ministry is also aware of protest action taken yesterday by a small group of persons outside the Jamaican High Commission in London, in respect of this matter.

We have been advised by the Ministry of National Security, which has lead responsibility for such matters, that such flights have previously been used over the past several years, under a June 2007 Memorandum of Understanding between the Governments of Jamaica and the United Kingdom, which addresses such matters.

The ministry will remain in contact with both the Jamaican High Commission in London, as well as the Ministry of National Security, to address any issues which might arise for our attention. In the interim, we wish to also assure the Jamaicans at home and abroad that while the appointment of a new Jamaican High Commissioner is being finalised, the staff of the High Commission, including an Acting High Commissioner, are seized with the circumstances and remain available to advise members of the Diaspora in the United Kingdom who have specific concerns, in respect of relatives, of any appropriate action which may be open to them.”

Message to the Blackman

Allah is the Best Knower

There are many other chapters of the Holy Qur’an Sharrieff that open with the above words, “Allah is the Best Knower.” The beautiful teachings of the Holy Qur’an have no equal in other scriptures.

All so-called Negro preachers should have one, but be sure it is the one translated by Yusuf Ali, or Maulvi Muhammad Ali. Any other translation of the holy Qur'an, by Christian authors, is as poisonous to the reader as a rattlesnake.

What I am trying to make clear is that white people do not believe in Allah and Islam or the prophets of Allah. Why then, should you seek the truth of it from them? You will soon come to know that you should not seek any truth from them. They have you following in the wrong direction and hope to keep you like that; but by my Allah's power and wisdom, and my life's blood, you shall know the Truth even against your own will.

They (white people) have nearly all of the poor Black preachers on their side to oppose Allah, myself and Islam, the religion of the righteous. They will fail and be brought to disgrace as Pharaohs magicians and he himself were by Allah (God), for you have not known Him, or his religion, as Israel had not known god by His name Jehovah (Exodus 6:3).

They felt that they should not believe Moses' representation of God by any other name than God almighty, regardless of Moses' stress upon Jehovah as being the God of their Fathers. Pharaoh had not used that name (Jehovah); so Israel would not accept it until a showdown between Jehovah and Pharaoh. I would not like to have you wait until a showdown between Allah and the modern Pharaohs people; therefore I come to you with the truth, verifying that which is before it, and giving good news to the believers that they most certainly shall have heaven in this life.

I also come to you with a warning to those who disbelieve that you most certainly shall have hell in this life, and in the hereafter you most certainly will be among the losers, or do they say, “He has forged it?” Nay, it is the truth from the Lord, that you may warn a people to whom no warning has come before, that they may follow the right direction (Holy Qur'an 32:3).

You say, “Who is this Allah, and this religion Islam?” Know my people, the Divine Supreme Being has 99 attributes that make up His name, and Allah is the 100th. Surely His are the most beautiful names. He will make Himself known to the world that He is God and besides Him there is no God and that I am His Messenger, that Islam is a religion backed by the Power of Allah (God) to free you from the hands of your merciless enemies (the slave masters) once and forever.

Allah, your God, will grant you power to overcome your enemies though their power may look as endurable as the mountains. Fear not! Allah is the Best Knower. Armageddon has started, and after it there will be no Christian religion or churches. Jesus was a Muslim, not a Christian.

The Days of Allah

“Say to those who believe that they forgive those who do not fear the days of Allah, that He may reward a people for what they earn” [Holy Qur'an 45:14].

What is meant by “Days of Allah” are the battles between right and wrong. They are often mentioned as follows: the Days of Judgment, the Days of the Resurrection, the Days of the Son of Man, and the Days of Allah. These days must not be mistaken for the regular 24 hour day. No, the Days of Allah, the Days of Resurrection, the Days of Judgment and the Days of the Son of Man mean years; not the common 24 hour day.

What will make us know when we are living in the Days of Allah? It is the fulfilling of the predictions made by the Prophets of Allah, long before they come to pass. I quote Maulvi Muhammad Ali's footnote 2276 on this verse, in which he says: “The Days of Allah are the contests in which the righteous shall be made successful.” That no one can deny for this is a sign for the disbelievers who have enjoyed great temporary prosperity and who thought they were too rich and powerful to be brought into a state of helplessness. Although they had the histories of those who were before them, there is no difference between the disbelievers today or the past.

We are living in the Days of Allah. The earth and its people have been ruled by an evil race known as the white race. In these days of Allah, the righteous (the Muslims) are now gaining power over the wicked and will soon rule the earth again as they did before the creation of the white race.

Take notice of my followers who have given up the wicked ways of the white race and their self-styled Christianity and have accepted the Truth. They are gradually becoming the most successful people in the world. Allah has chosen us; we have chosen Allah.

Who can successfully oppose Allah in His Days and time of rule? It is easy for a weak and poverty-stricken people to give up, but it is not so easy when they are powerful and wealthy. They think there will be no end to their power and wealth which is made to deceive them.

JAMAICAN GETS PATENT FOR PROSTATE CANCER CURE

From Kwesi
I am one that usually vilifies my country when things go wrong but when things are right, I am the first to go on the mountain top and announce the good news. Here is one such news. Jamaican Scientist Dr Henry Lowe, whose work on prostate cancer is well known, yes well known despite the shut out from the powers that be, was awarded a patent on his cure and medicine for prostate cancer.

This is special, very special and once again proves we are as small as we want to be. Size matters only if you think small. The fight for cancer is a worldwide battle that some want to use to rake in billions at the expense of people dying. Dr Lowe’s work is from the heart, from a place where he was affected by friends and loved ones dying of cancer so finding a cure was for him a labor of love.

Let us raise little David high enough to challenge Goliath, challenge the System and challenge the status quo. The cure for cancer is not a luxury, it is a human need. No man should use this need to profit for their personal gains. Something is wrong when we let people die for money. I applaud Dr. Lowe and hope through his work many will live to enjoy the gift of life.

From Jamaica Gleaner publication

Renowned Jamaican scientist and entrepreneur Dr Henry Lowe has been awarded a second patent from the world’s leading United States Patent Office on the anti-cancer activities of the ball moss. The patent was issued on 6 May and titled,” Methods for inhibiting prostate cancer by kinases and angiogenesis inhibitory mechanisms.” Dr Joseph L Bryant of the University of Maryland shares the patent with Dr Lowe.
The patent states that the ball moss isolates have been demonstrated to inhibit the growth and viability of prostate cancer cells by selectively inhibiting certain types of proteins called kinases, which signals the directive for cancer cells to grow and spread. The mechanism also prevents angiogenesis, which is the growth of new blood vessels to feed the cancer tumours.

According to Dr Lowe, his passion for prostate cancer research, “is not only because it has impacted negatively on the health of family members and friends, but also because it is one of the major cancers which cause death and harm to the majority of black males, throughout the world, particularly here in Jamaica.”

Not only has he been doing laboratory and clinical work on prostate cancer with ball moss isolates and alpha prostate formula, Lowe is the lead author in the development of a book, The Prostate Cancer Guide – a resource for Jamaican men and their families, which was sold out and is being updated for a second publication.

Three years ago, at the launch of the Bio-Tech R&D Institute (which he founded) Dr Lowe promised to develop a nutra-ceutical called alpha prostate formula, with ball moss as the major ingredient in the formulation. This product was developed as promised and is now being sold internationally as a nutra-ceutical for the management of prostate health. Alpha prostate formula also boasts the distinction of being the only such product in the world.

Dr Lowe has published 12 peer-reviewed research papers on ball moss in leading academic journals and his discoveries and publications make him the world’s authority on this subject. He is the first person to have discovered that the ball moss has major bio-medicinal properties.

Seven chemicals and toxins to avoid when buying baby products

Baby products are marketed to make you think you need them, but the fact is they're full of toxic ingredients that do more harm than good.

There is a multi-million pound industry out there promising to keep your baby’s skin as perfect as it was when he or she was first born. The unsurprising irony is that none of that is necessary. Your baby’s skin is far better off with minimal intervention. The fewer soaps, shampoos, and lotions that you apply to your little one’s incredible new skin, the healthier and more perfect it will be.

Mainstream baby products contain numerous toxic ingredients that will enter your baby’s body if used. The best option is to stick with natural, nourishing, and edible ingredients such as straight oils (olive, sweet almond, coconut) and fragrance-free bar soap, although omitting soap and rinsing just with water is usually fine, too. (If you wouldn’t put it in your mouth, don’t use it.)

Your baby may not have that stereotypical baby-powder smell, but he or she will be healthier in the long run, and that’s all that matters.

1. Talc
This powdered mineral is added to baby powder (and many other cosmetic powders). It’s used as a drying agent, but it’s a known lung irritant and may also be carcinogenic. As Gillian Deacon describes in her book There’s Lead In Your Lipstick:

Talcum powder

“The mineral talc tends to occur in rock mass formations that are intermingle with other magnesium silicate minerals, including the highly dangerous asbestos. Since it is virtually impossible to extract the talc rock from the asbestos during the mining process, the carcinogenic contaminant is almost invariably going to be carried over into any consumer product containing talc.”

Ever since this news came out in the late 1990s, some companies have switched to talc-free baby powders, but there are still problems with many of the ingredients on their lists. Read on for more information!

2. Fragrance

Fragrance is added to countless products, either to create a particular fragrance or to mask the odour of the nasty chemicals used in production. The problem with fragrance is that it’s a catch-all term for whatever secret ingredients companies wish to add (they are not obligated to reveal what’s contained within ‘fragrance’), and are generally made of coal- and petroleum-derived synthetic chemicals.

The effects of fragrance are long lasting, lingering on the skin for hours, and can cause respiratory, neurological, skin, and eye damage. There is evidence that exposure to fragrance as a child may lead to asthma.

Fragrance is added to disposable nappies (you know that strong baby powder-ish smell when you open a new package?), baby powder, baby wash and shampoo, lotions, and many other baby products. Check the labels carefully before you buy.

Check the substances used in baby wipes

3. Propylene glycol

This chemical is a penetration enhancer that is easily absorbed by the skin and may be carcinogenic. Its job is basically to open up all the pores and let the other chemicals in.

Propylene glycol is used in windscreen wiper fluid and to de-ice airplanes, and yet it is often found in baby wipes, which is not safe. Look out for polyethylene glycol (PEG) and polypropylene glycol (PPG) on labels, too.

A safer alternative of baby wipes

Try making your own home-made disposable baby wipes or just stick with warm water and soap on a wash cloth.

4. 1,4-dioxane and ethylated surfactants

The Environmental Working Group found that 57% of baby soaps are contaminated with 1,4-dioxane. Although it’s never listed as an ingredient, 1,4-dioxane is often present in beauty products because it is a contaminant or by-product that occurs when “ethylene oxide, a known breast carcinogen added to other chemicals to make them less harsh.”

If you see any ingredients that contain the letters ‘eth,’ then that is an indicator of the presence of 1,4-dioxane. Stay away from polyethylene, polyethylene glycol, sodium laureth sulphate, cetareth, oleth, oxynol, -xynol, and PEG.

5. Mineral oil
Baby oil is essentially made of mineral oil mixed with fragrance, which is a nasty combination. Mineral oil is a cheap by-product of petroleum processing and acts as a plastic wrap on the skin, inhibiting the skin’s ability to release toxins. Opt instead for natural and nourishing oils such as olive, coconut, or sweet almond to massage into your baby’s skin.

6. Parabens
Unfortunately parabens are everywhere. They can be found in all soaps, body washes, shampoos, and moisturisers, including those marketed toward babies. Parabens are neuro-toxins and are linked to reproductive toxicity, hormone disruption, and skin irritation. Stay away from anything with ‘paraben’ in its name, as well as benzoic acid and propyl ester.

7. Triclosan
Anything that’s labeled as ‘antibacterial’ likely contains triclosan, which is a carcinogenic endocrine disruptor that’s also harmful to the environment. Although it makes sense to want to keep your baby away from unnecessary bacteria, that’s the wrong approach to take. By raising our babies in sterile environments, we inhibit their ability to create natural resistance and immunity, increase the likelihood of allergies, and render antibacterial treatments less effective for when we truly need them to work. Stay away from all antibacterial soaps and body washes.

TRICLOSAN
*synthetic antibacterial compound *registered in 1969 as pesticide *endocrine + muscle function disruptor *potential carcinogen
*creates antibacterial resistance *produces chloroform gas when mixed with water commonly found in:

Always check the ingredients before buying products. Always look for safer and natural alternatives. If it costs you a little more, think of it as an investment instead of a cost. How much is your baby’s life worth to you?

Health benefits of Tumeric

Turmeric or Curcumin is a wonder herb and it has many health benefits. It’s bright orange, bitter and powerful. Turmeric is the vibrant ingredient that gives curry its memorable hue. If you’ve tried Indian cuisine, you’ve likely tasted it and loved it.

This predominant spice is used generously in nearly all Indian meals. Perhaps that’s why India has among the lowest rates of lung, colon, prostate & breast cancer. Curcumin, the active agent in turmeric has been used in Ayurveda, the Ancient form of Indian Medicine for thousands of years and Western Science is catching on. Turmeric has matched and outperformed many modern medicines.

Curcumin/Turmeric Capsules, Not Nearly As Effective

The active agents in turmeric are fat soluble, meaning you need fat in the carrier to effectively absorb and assimilate the benefits. In order to make the most of your turmeric you must take it with a source of fat. The spice has stood the test of time in India as a form of medicine because it’s used in cooking and oil is almost always present in the recipe. The fat from the oil is the consort ingredient.

The vitamin and supplement industry is steadfast and ever growing. It’s the American way to think we can identify a component, examine it, prove it, magnify it, package it and sell it. Well, it doesn’t always work that way. The bedrock of Ayurveda and Eastern Medicine is that we are more than the sum total of our parts. Holistic medicine stands firm on a platform that demonstrates the interconnectedness of the mind, body and soul. Just as there is a delicate and intelligent interplay between the mind, body and soul, there is a delicate and intelligent interplay between the brain, gut and formation of tissues.

A capsule version of turmeric will get the spice into your body but it won’t guarantee the digestion and absorption of the nutrients into your system. According to Ayurveda there are seven layers of tissues: plasma, blood, muscles, fat, bones, nervous tissue and reproductive tissue.

Dissolve a full teaspoon of turmeric and a pinch of black pepper into hot coconut oil and pour it into your smoothie or juice.

6. Stir it into olive oil for salads and veggie mixes. You can also sprinkle it on an avocado and pair it with your meal.

7. Skip the pill. If you’re taking the capsule version at least take it with 1 cup of hot water. In the cup of hot water, add 1 teaspoon of ghee or connect oil and a generous pinch of black pepper.

8. Turmeric Benefits For Skin
Combine 1 teaspoon of turmeric with 1 teaspoon of chick pea flour; add a dash of tea tree oil and enough water to create a paste (about 2 teaspoons of water). Apply the paste to the entire face, keep it on for 15 minutes, then rinse it with warm water. In time your skin will look radiant.

Optimize Your Use of Turmeric

Doses Of Using Turmeric In Different Ways

1. Always buy certified organic.

2. Make sure your spices are free of chemicals, preservatives, fillers and additives.

3. Drink Golden Milk
Golden milk is an ancient health elixer: Combine 1/2 teaspoon of organic turmeric powder, 1/2 teaspoon of organic ginger powder and a pinch of cinnamon, nutmeg and cardamom into one cup of hot almond/rice or hemp milk. If you’re using a liquid with low fat content you can add 1/2 teaspoon of coconut oil or ghee (clarified butter) to guarantee maximum absorption. Drink this daily.

4. Combine turmeric with black pepper to amp up the effect.

Cook with turmeric, black pepper and ginger. These heating, metabolism charging spices have a synergistic effect that will increase the bio availability by 1,000 times. Make sure to dissolve the spices in ghee or coconut oil while cooking.

5. Pour it into your smoothies.

Health Benefits Of Using Turmeric
1. It is a natural antiseptic and antibacterial agent. Application of Turmeric paste is useful in cuts and burns.

2. When it is cooked with cauliflower it works as a preventive against prostrate cancer.

3. Adding this to food will help in preventing breast cancer.

4. Reduces the risks of childhood leukaemia.

5. It has proprieties that can prevent melanoma and can kill existing melanoma cells to die.

6. It prevents and slows the progression of Alzheimer diseases by removing amyloyd plaque build up in the brain.

7. It detoxifies the liver.

8. It slows the progression of multiple sclerosis in mice.

9. It helps in inducing metabolism and reducing fat.

10. It has anti-inflammatory properties so it useful in treating arthritis and rheumatoid arthritis.

A Mixed Jamaican in Multi-Cultural and Racist Britain? is a Cultural Awareness and People Development Education Book that aims to generate serious conversation about the racial and cultural challenges within the Black community, constructive action to take in response to the various issues and how to tackle racism alongside other anti-racists.

Among the subjects debated include, examining the Black populations living conditions since the 1948 Windrush generation, the effectiveness of various Race policies, has Institutional racism been eliminated, and is Britain now a post racial society? The question after Mark Duggan's controversial 2011 death, can the police be trusted?, and other social factors concerning Afro-phobia and Race relations are identified.

What the Muslims want

1. We want freedom. We want a full and complete freedom.

2. We want justice. Equal justice under the law. We want justice applied equally to all, regardless of creed or class or colour.

3. We want equality of opportunity. We want equal membership in society with the best in civilized society.

4. We want our people in America whose parents or grandparents were descendants from slaves, to be allowed to establish a separate state or territory of their own–either on this continent or elsewhere. We believe that our former slave masters are obligated to provide such land and that the area must be fertile and mineral rich. We believe that our former slave masters are obligated to maintain and supply our needs in this separate territory for the next 20 to 25 years – until we are able to produce and supply our own needs. Since we cannot get along with them in peace and equality, after giving them 400 years of our sweat and blood and receiving in return some of the worst treatment human beings have ever experienced, we believe our contributions to this land and the suffering forced upon us by white America, justifies our demand for complete separation in a state or territory of our own.

5. We want freedom for all Believers of Islam now held in federal prisons. We want freedom for all Black men and women now under death sentence in innumerable prisons in the North as well as the South. We want every Black man and woman to have the freedom to accept or reject being separated from the slave master’s children and establish a land of their own. We know that the above plan for the solution of the Black and white conflict is the best and only answer to the problem between two people.

6. We want an immediate end to the police brutality and mob attacks against the so-called Negro throughout the United States. We believe that the Federal government should intercede to see that Black men and women tried in white courts receive justice in accordance with the laws of the land–or allow us to build a new nation for ourselves, dedicated to justice, freedom and liberty.

7. As long as we are not allowed to establish a state or territory of our own, we demand not only equal justice under the laws of the United States, but equal employment opportunities—NOW! We do not believe that after 400 years of free or nearly free labour, sweat and blood, which has helped America become rich and powerful, so many thousands of Black people should have to subsist on relief or charity or live in poor houses.

8. We want the government of the United States to exempt our people from ALL taxation as long as we are deprived of equal justice under the laws of the land.

9. We want equal education—b ut separate schools up to 16 for boys and 18 for girls on the condition that the girls be sent to women’s colleges and universities. We want all Black children educated, taught and trained by their own teachers. Under such schooling system we believe we will make a better nation of people. The United States government should provide, free, all necessary text books and equipment, schools and college buildings. The Muslim teachers shall be left free to teach and train their people in the way of righteousness, decency and self respect.

10. We believe that intermarriage or race mixing should be prohibited. We want the religion of Islam taught without hindrance or suppression.

Master W Fard Muhammad

What The Muslims Believe

1. We believe in the One God whose proper Name is Allah.

2. We believe in the Holy Qur’an and in the Scriptures of all the Prophets of God.

3. We believe in the truth of the Bible, but we believe that it has been tampered with and must be reinterpreted so that mankind will not be snared by the falsehoods that have been added to it.

4. We believe in Allah’s Prophets and the Scriptures they brought to the people.

5. We believe in the the resurrection of the dead—n ot in physical resurrection—b ut in mental resurrection. We believe that the so-called Negroes are most in need of mental resurrection; therefore they will be resurrected first. Furthermore, we believe we are the people of God's choice, as it has been written, that God would choose the rejected and the despised. We can find no other persons fitting this description in these last days more that the so-called Negroes in America. We believe in the resurrection of the righteous.

6. We believe in the judgment; we believe this first judgment will take place as God revealed, in America…

7. We believe this is the time in history for the separation of the so-called Negroes and the so-called white Americans. We believe the Black man should be freed in name as well as in fact. By this we mean that he should be freed from the names imposed upon him by his former slave masters. Names which identified him as being the slave master’s slave. We believe that if we are free indeed, we should go in our own people’s names—the Black people of the Earth.

8. We believe in justice for all, whether in God or not; we believe as others, that we are due equal justice as human beings. We believe in equality—as a nation—of equals. We do not believe that we are equal with our slave masters in the status of “freed slaves.” We recognize and respect American citizens as independent peoples and we respect their laws which govern this nation.

9. We believe that the offer of integration is hypocritical and is made by those who are trying to deceive the Black peoples into believing that their 400-year-old open enemies of freedom, justice and equality are, all of a sudden, their “friends.” Furthermore, we believe that such deception is intended to prevent Black people from realizing that the time in history has arrived for the separation from the whites of this nation. If the white people are truthful about their professed friendship toward the so-called Negro, they can prove it by dividing up America with their slaves. We do not believe that America will ever be able to furnish enough jobs for her own millions of unemployed, in addition to jobs for the 20,000,000 black people as well.

10. We believe that we who declare ourselves to be righteous Muslims, should not participate in wars which take the lives of humans. We do not believe this nation should force us to take part in such wars, for we have nothing to gain from it unless America agrees to give us the necessary territory wherein we may have something to fight for.

11. We believe our women should be respected and protected as the women of other nationalities are respected and protected.

12. We believe that Allah (God) appeared in the Person of Master W Fard Muhammad, July, 1930; the long-awaited “Messiah” of the Christians and the “Mahdi” of the Muslims. We believe further and lastly that Allah is God and besides HIM there is no god and He will bring about a universal government of peace wherein we all can live in peace together.
